The Year in Review

The 1993-94 school year was definitely one to remember. Beginning in the fall, with a state championship win for the soccer team, football games, and Homecoming Week, this year was filled with many lasting memories. The winter months were highlighted by the school's many Christmas activities and a Christmas dance, as well as a state title for the girls' basketball team. There was also Student Appreciation Day and a Valentine's Day dance to help students through those bleak winter days. Spring came, and with it came the chance for students to participate in more exciting activities. Pink and Green Day was held for the first time this year, along with our annual Positive Attitudes Day and Fun Night. This school year was, without a doubt, one of the most memorable ever.

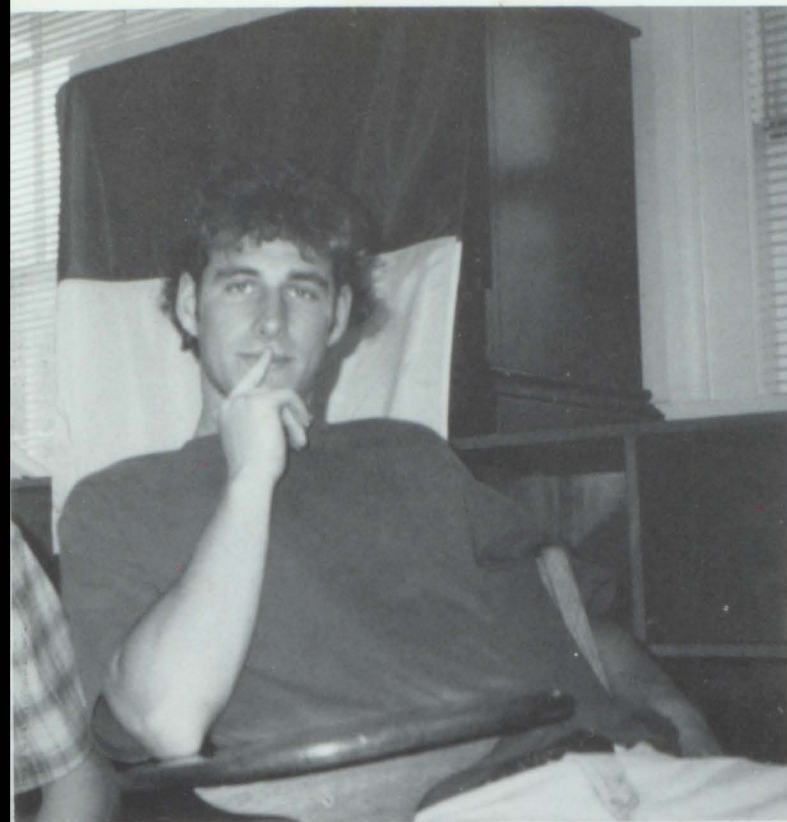

♥ Singing up a storm ... Carlos Denson leads the Middle School as he entertains his audience at Skit Night during Homecoming Week.

♣ "Yeah, we're bad and we know it!" Seniors Alex Menezes and Nick Dattilo stare into the camera and dare to be photographed.

♣ Taking a moment to let it all sink in ... Natalia Livingston is ecstatic as she is crowned the 1993 Homecoming Queen by Mr. Pierce.

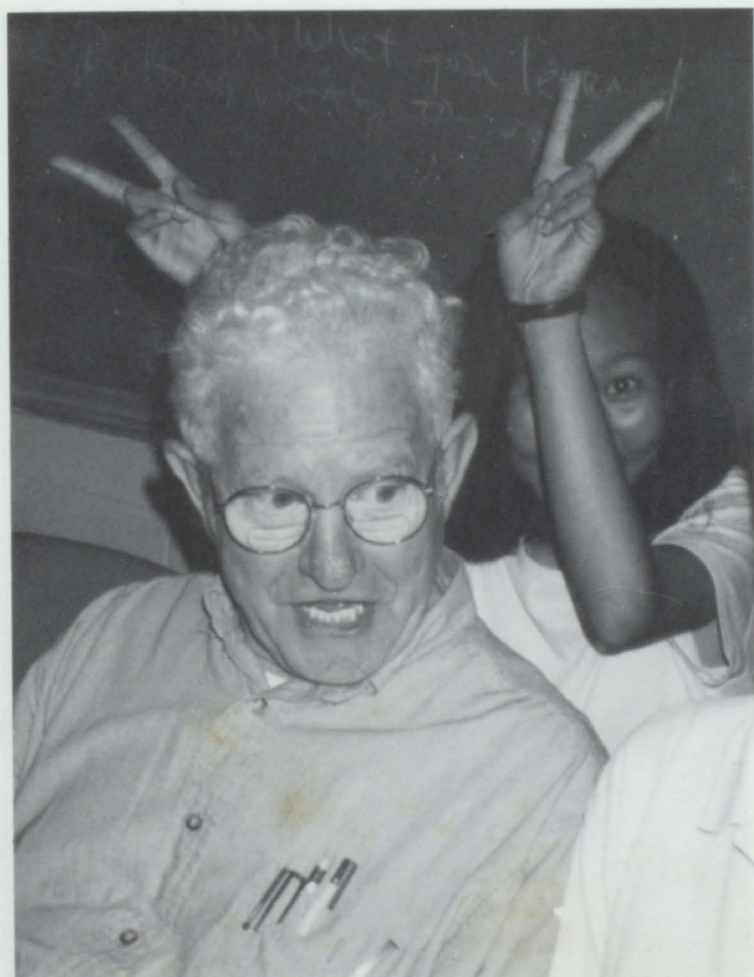

♦ "Look, I actually caught it!" Eighth grader Britton Lockhart is joyous over catching the Frisbee during the Middle School Olympics.

♥ Showing off his sling and his positive attitude, Brad Washburn looks excited to be a part of the Positive Attitude Day festivities.

♦ Quick! Like a bunny! Coach Garvin seems unaware that Leigh Cabasares is right behind him, putting the bunny ears on him.

♣ Sharing a warm embrace ... After all of their hard work, the senior girl basketball players are overjoyed to finally be State Champs!

A Place Unlike Any Other

Mount de Sales is indeed a school with a unique atmosphere which provides students with the opportunity to take part in many interesting activities. Here, students enjoy a variety of things that cannot be found in other schools. No where else can students participate in Fun Night or Positive Attitudes Day, or experience Catholic Schools Week. Mount de Sales also has a strong athletic program, with two teams bringing home state titles. Last but not least, MDS has a strong tradition of excellence in education. This winning combination of academics, athletics, and activities helps to make MDS the best in education.

♥ Seniors Tyler Rogero and Ellen Crawford strut their shells for the entire school during the dress-up competition of Homecoming Week.

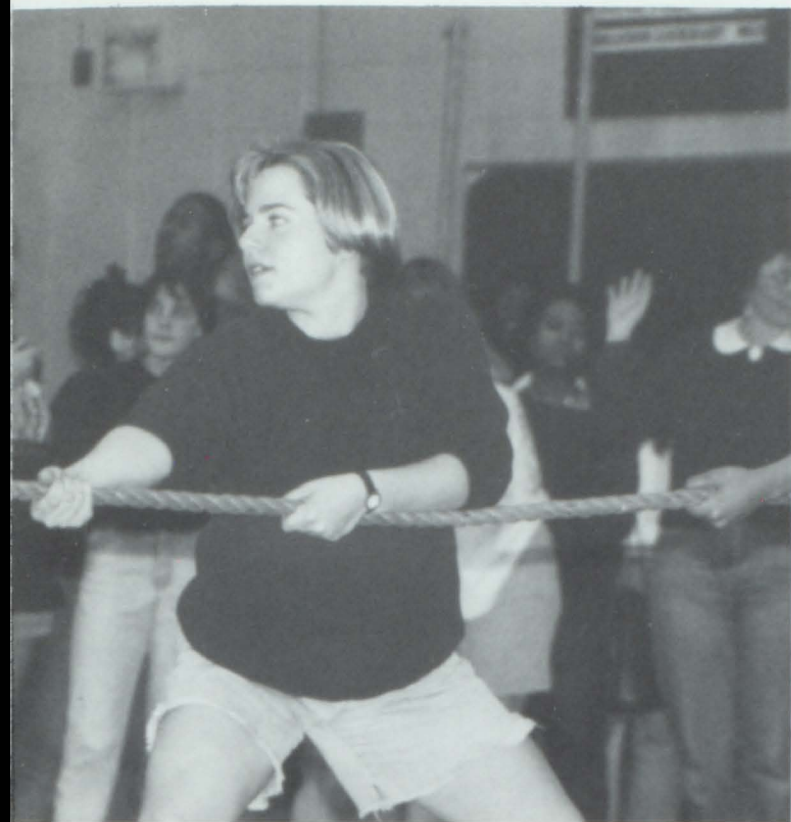

♦ Pulling with all their might, Shana Alverson and Lisa Sinksen lead the seniors to victory during the tug-of-war at Fun Night.

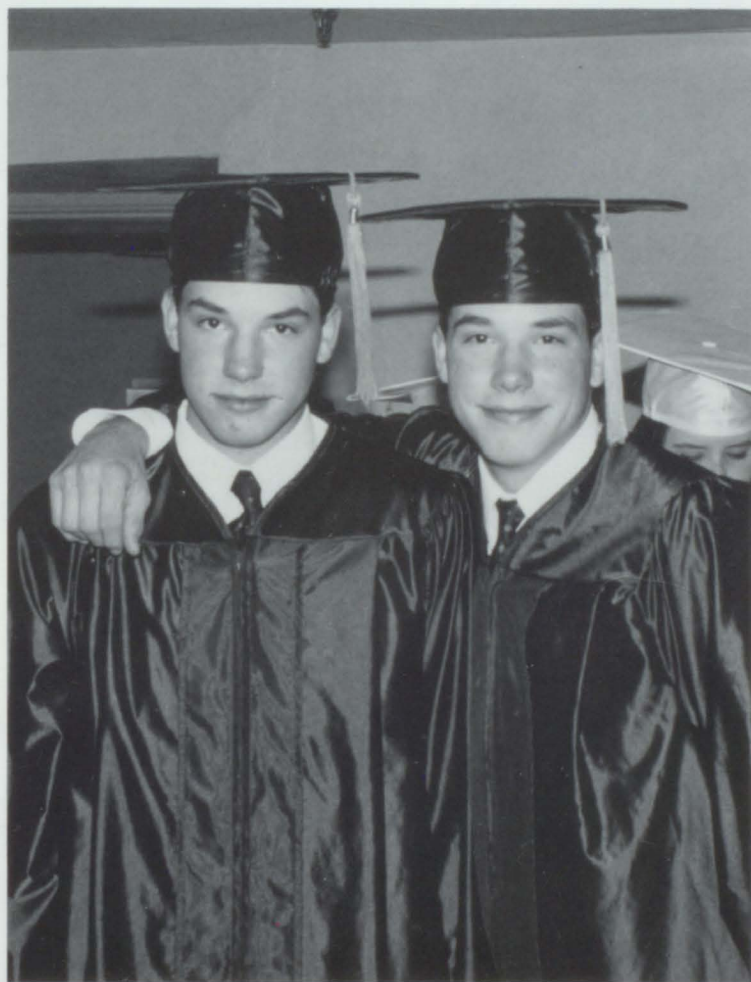

▲ Member of the 1993 State Champion soccer team, Mike Filush moves past an FPD defender to make another amazing goal and lead MDS to a win.

♦ "For the land of the free, and the home of the brave," junior Christy Price raises the flag in front of the school each morning.

♥ So proud to be a part of the Chiquita banana family, sophomores Jessica Perez and Megan Cullinan enjoy themselves during Homecoming.

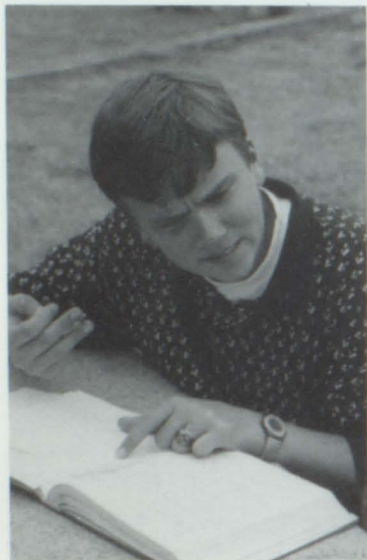

♦ "Can you tell us apart?" Ashley and Jeffrey Spires show their brotherly love just before lining up to begin the graduating exercises.

♣ Working to make dreams a reality, junior Danielle Cooper paints diligently to make the Junior-Senior Prom a night to remember.

Doubling, doubling the enjoyment, Mary and Nettie Pierce and their mother enjoy lunch during the Pink and Green Day family picnic.

Okay, can you explain that to me one more time? Laurent Lefevre looks bewildered at the complicated explanation of a math problem.

Born to be wild: Art George and Beniko Carswell proudly display their Cavalier spirit on Dress-Up Day during Homecoming week.

Students Enjoy Homecoming

This year's Homecoming Week was an unforgettable experience for the students as well as the teachers at Mount de Sales. This event, held on September 27 through October 1, 1993, left a mark on all who participated. The theme of this year's Homecoming week was "Welcome to de Islands, Mon!", and everyone joined in the activities. The student body participated in festivities such as "Sun" Day, when students were allowed to wear their sunglasses all day long. Other events included the traditional Dress-Up Day, Class Color Day, and Bonfire and Skit Night. Every class worked together to make some eye-catching decorations for the trapezoid during the decoration competition. The Homecoming Dance, which featured karaoke for the first time at Mt. de Sales, was a smash-hit with all of the students. Sophomore Rico Stubbs enthusiastically commented, "I liked everything, the music, the activities . . . I thought it was great!" The activities of Homecoming Week really brought the classes together. "The dance was very entertaining. The singers were a little out of tune, but otherwise I had a really great time", said Susan Byrne, a junior at MDS. Senior Jared Downs commented on the week by saying, "With the amount of spirit the whole student body had, I think we all got closer."

Sail away!!! Juniors Jason Balkcom and Jennifer Deaton take a ride on the Love Boat while trying to rescue their classmates during Skit Night.

"Welcome to de Islands, Mon!" Seniors Jared Downs and Abby Henderson enthusiastically show off their island attire and their school spirit while standing in the sunshine during Dress-Up Day.

"Where's the beach?" During Dress-Up Day of Homecoming Week, Jennifer Wisdom heads to the costume judging contest in the gym equipped with high hopes, her beach towel, and lots of sun-block.

Caught up in the excitement, sophomore Bobbi Jo Rape gives both her time and her talents to her class as she puts up Homecoming decorations in the trapezoid for the decoration competition.

Two heads are better than one! Freshmen Danielle Faulk and Kelly Peterman enjoy delicious food and wonderful companionship while soaking up autumn sunshine at the annual Parent-Student Picnic.

Standing proud, senior Ben Branch explains the meaning of Mercy Day, the history of the Sisters of Mercy, and the many charitable works of these women to the students of Mount de Sales.

A shining star of the stage, sophomore Amy Williams showcases her acting abilities and her great understanding of Mercy Day during a performance enacted by the Introduction to Acting class.

Let There Be Mercy

Mercy Day is a Mt. de Sales tradition that honors the Sisters of Mercy and their founder, Mother Catherine McAuley. "The Sisters of Mercy founded our school in 1871 and Mt. de Sales has continued to be owned and operated by them, presently under the leadership of Sr. Mary Rosina and her Board of Trustees," said Sr. Helen, a present-day Sister of Mercy. This year's Mercy Day was held on September 24, 1993. The activities included a re-enactment of Mother McAuley's life, performed by the Introduction to Acting Class. The school collected money for various charities such as the Baggot St. Project, that raises money to renovate the original house on Baggot Street that Catherine McAuley used as a missionary for the poor of Dublin. The Sisters of Mercy will continue in the tradition of Mother McAuley, both at the Baggot Street House and here at Mt. de Sales.

Reaching Out

Educators Share Knowledge

On October 15-17, the Mercy Scholastic Conference Association met to share their views of various educational issues and to come up with new ideas for educators. This year Mount de Sales was chosen to host the very special event. The people who met at Mt. de Sales came from all over the Americas. As they gathered in the gym, they were greeted by a special musical program sung by the MDS chorus. The chorus performed inspirational pieces such as "A Jubilant Song" for this eagerly anticipated event. Mr. Dockrell said, "This was a very exciting and productive weekend." Mrs. Able agreed, saying, "It was great meeting with different schools and discussing serious issues." All in all, the Mercy Education Conference was a big success and a learning experience for everyone involved.

These are the times to remember!!! Mrs. Weston and Mrs. Timms enjoy their wonderful friendship while taking a short break from all of the excitement of the Mercy Education Conference.

What a cheerful helper! With a spirit of giving, junior Becky Sizemore quenches Mrs. Washburn's thirst with a refreshing glass of punch after a service during the Mercy Education Conference.

Filled with confidence, Coach Parker seems proud to be a part of the Mercy Education Conference.

Making the Yuletide Bright

A Time for Reflection

Over the years, the Candlelight Carol Service has become a Mount de Sales tradition. This year's service took place on Dec. 9, 1993, and began at 7:30 p.m. with a musical program performed by the MDS Chorus. Under the direction of Mrs. Donna Washburn, this year's chorus members set the mood for the service through their renditions of such Christmas favorites as, "Carol of the Bells," "Lo How a Rose Ere Blooming," and "The Magnificat." The second half of the service began as the members of the Class of 1994 filed in through the central isle of the church holding lighted candles. The evening progressed with readings from Scripture and an inspirational message from Sr. Rosina. For all involved, the Candlelight Carol Service was a heart-warming way to open the Christmas season.

Silent night, Holy night. All is calm, all is bright. Seniors Ginger Martin, Emily Thomason, Mandy Jordan, Melanie Union, and Windy Lester appreciate the reverence of the Candlelight Service.

Looking solemn, the acolytes at the Candlelight Service reflect on the atmosphere of the church.

O Holy Night, the stars are brightly shining. Standing attentively at the altar, the senior boys add to the holiday spirit of the Candlelight Carol Service by serving as acolytes.

Okay, Stephen! What are you smiling about? Looking like he is having a blast at the Christmas dance, sophomore Stephen Lankford takes time off from dancing to show off his pearly whites.

Let's get a little closer! Senior Will Hinshaw and Junior Becky Sizemore share a moment together during the Christmas dance. Will and Becky will remember the fun they had on this great night.

Not-So-Silent Night

Despite the chilling December air, feelings and friendships glowed warmly on the night of the Christmas Dance. The decorations, provided by the Social Activities Committee, lent a festive air to this event, held on the evening of December 20, 1993. Music was provided by D.J. Chuck Burge, of Pro Entertainment. The Christmas Dance has always been a way for students to get out of the everyday routine and to have fun with their friends. The semi-formal dress gave everyone a chance to enjoy life out of dress code. "The Christmas Dance gives you a chance to show your holiday spirit," commented sophomore Amiee Ridings and freshman Wendy Wise. Sophomore Clare Dixon, a Social Activities Committee member, said, "Preparation for the Christmas Dance gave EVERYONE a chance to be involved."

It All Adds Up!

The annual Math Day activities at MDS give students an opportunity to test their problem-solving abilities and learn new skills. This year's competition took place on Wednesday, January 26, and began with a test that was taken by individual team members. As the day progressed, students divided into teams for lunch and spent an hour working on brain-teasers. If teams succeeded in solving these "Math-Day Munchies," they gained points toward their final score. After lunch the direct competition began. Teams entered the library and worked against a time limit to solve problems from each type of math. At the end of the day, the results of this strenuous competition were added to those from earlier activities. This year, captain Brandon Lockhart led his team to victory.

Luck of the Draw

MDS Artists Gain Experience

The Mt. de Sales Art Department had a very busy year. Students participated in a number of events and won many awards and honors. There were several students who submitted artwork to be exhibited at the Georgia Museum of Art at the University of Georgia. Seniors David Tyre and Matt Hickey won regional honors, while Matt's work was chosen to appear at the official state art museum. In the annual "Art for Your Office" Project, the members of A.P. Art and several underclassmen had their works displayed at the office of S. Fleetwood Maddox, M.D. at the Central Georgia Eye Center. Sophomores Sarah Hope and Amy Williams contributed their works to sell at the annual Up-town-Downtown Bazaar, and several seniors also made crafts for the occasion. Through the art program at MDS, many talented students have been able to share their work with the community.

Oh! So that's how you do that!! Senior Ellen Crawford contemplates the many mysteries of clay while brushing up on her pottery-making technique on the pottery wheel in the clay room.

"Don't mind us, we're just hanging out!!" Mandy Jordan, Will Hinshaw, David Tyre, Matt Hickey, Ginger Martin, and Sarah Mead enjoy the great outdoors during an AP Art field trip.

Excellence in Education

Catholic Schools Week

Catholic Schools Week, celebrated January 31 through February 4, was a reminder to all Mt. de Sales students of their reasons for attending a Catholic School. "I chose this school to get a good education," said Joy Donnell. The week started out with a "hand meditation" along with an account of St. Francis de Sales works'. The National Honor Society and the Junior National Honor Society led the school in a ceremony that renewed the commitment to use their hands as they would use Christ's hands. Teacher Appreciation Day was observed as an acknowledgement of all the hard work teachers give to their students. This week concluded with Student Appreciation Day. "It's wonderful to be appreciated," said Kathleen Carigan. All in all, Catholic Schools Week was a huge success.

Reverently holding up his hands, junior Laurent Lefevre receives the blessed oil during Catholic Schools Week, a holy event which was shared by the entire student body of Mount de Sales.

In a solemn moment, Mr. Dockrell shares his talents with the school during Catholic Schools Week.

Have we had enough to eat, Brooke? Sharing a special moment with friends, Brooke Benford, Courtney Dawson, and Jennifer Powell eat doughnuts and juice provided by the Student Council.

We actually made it through customs! Senior Melanie Union and sophomore T.J. Rowland, tired but excited, show enthusiasm for what lies ahead during the rest of their trip to England.

A Hard Day's Night . . . Senior Rebecca Pischke takes a breather from the exhausting pace of sightseeing and the break-neck speed of intercontinental travel by posing with the Beatles.

It's tea time! Where's the Queen? Seniors Will Hinshaw and Melanie Union and junior Jennifer Wisdom take a trip back through time, looking at costumes of olde in a London museum.

Expanding Horizons

It all began with lost passports, nervous parents, sad goodbyes, and first-flight jitters. However, deep down, everyone was saying, "Get ready England, here I come!" Approximately 15 students and teachers made a week-long trip to London over the Thanksgiving holidays. They enjoyed eight days of sightseeing and tours in places such as Salisbury, Bath, and London itself. The travelers spent the majority of their free time in the city. The group enjoyed seeing attractions such as Madame Tousseau's Wax Museum, and shopping at department stores such as Selfridges. Although the sightseers were away from home on Thanksgiving, the rewards of international travel were well worth it. "I really enjoyed the trip. It was an exceptionally memorable experience," said junior Megan Skinner.

"His eye is on the sparrow". Janika Roberson celebrates her African-American heritage by sharing a spiritual with the student body during the musical portion of the black history presentation.

Celebrating their culture . . . Seniors Terrence Jolley and Yolanda Taylor added to the spirit of the black history program through their inspirational reading of Lashanna Farley's narration.

A Proud Heritage

Every year, Mount de Sales commemorates Black History Month by having an assembly that highlights the achievements of African-Americans. This year, members of the senior class chose to perform a narration discussing the similarities between the hopes and dreams of both African-Americans and European-Americans. The narration was written by student body president, Lashanna Farley. During the program, the students involved attempted to dispel the many stereotypes about minorities. Throughout the narration, the chorus sang African-American spirituals, such as "Deep River," and a traditional African song that celebrates the connection between people. In addition to these pieces, freshman soloist Janika Roberson sang a beautiful gospel song called "His Eye Is on the Sparrow".

Grace under pressure! Senior Kariem Jones eloquently expresses his views on the role of African-American culture in modern society as he is interviewed by the Channel 24 News crew.

Working Together

Literary Day at MDS

Literary Day, held on March 2, 1994, consisted of Oral Interpretation, Personal Essay, Critical Essay, Spelling, Piano, boy's Quartet, girl's Trio, boy's Solo, and Extemporaneous Speaking. Sophomore David Stahl, the winner of the boy's Oral Interpretation, said, "It was a nerve-wracking experience, but I look forward to competing next year!" The winners of other competitions were: Yolanda Taylor — girl's Oral Interpretation; Rachel Jones — Personal Essay; David Stahl — boy's Critical Essay; Kathleen Carrigan — girl's Critical Essay; Shana Alverson — girl's Solo; Cliff Rushin — boy's Solo; Shelli Hill, Shana Alverson, and Stephanie Webb — girl's Trio; Kathleen Carrigan — Spelling; Omar Dawson, Terrence Jolley, Jason Hutto, and Cliff Rushin — boy's Quartet; Shelli Hill — Piano; Avril Cobb — girl's Extemporaneous Speaking; Michael Cullinan — boy's Extemporaneous Speaking.

In the Pink

Pink and Green Day

This year, Mount de Sales celebrated the Macon Cherry Blossom Festival in a new and unique way. On Friday, March 25, students were allowed to come out of dress code provided that they wore something pink or green. On that same day, parents were invited to a Parent-Student Picnic. Both of these activities combined to make Pink and Green Day a festive and memorable celebration of the Cherry Blossom season. Senior Avril Cobb, 1994 Cherry Blossom Queen, who presided over this day, was Mount de Sales' contribution to the Cherry Blossom festivities. Junior Christy Price commented, "Pink and Green Day was definitely a different experience. It provided students with a chance to wear Pink and Green and to have fun at the same time!" Pink and Green Day enabled students to enjoy both the sight of the beautiful cherry blossom trees and the company of their parents while relaxing in out-of-dress-code clothes.

Like father, like daughter!!! Freshman Dona Cortes and her father look like they are enjoying themselves at the Pink and Green Day Parent-Student Picnic sponsored by the Student Council.

Having a little fun girls? Juniors Erica Rodriguez, Stephanie Butts, and Rachel Parks seem to be having a good time relaxing and talking with each other at the Parent-Student Picnic.

Hey, are you looking at me? Junior Jeanie Dizon looks up from her dilligent study of Spanish culture and traditions to find out why she is suddenly the center of attention in her Spanish III class.

Now THAT is a good project!!! Freshman Cheryl Parks and a friend admire one of the many colorful and informative projects on display in the library during Foreign Language Week this year.

This extremely festive bulletin board display, located on the first floor of the New Building, was a striking visual representation of this year's theme for Foreign Language Week.

Celebrating Culture

Every year, French and Spanish students at Mount de Sales look forward to Foreign Language Week as a chance to learn something new. During this week, posters depicting the theme, "Modern Foreign Languages Build Bridges Across Nations", adorned the walls. Students also competed against each other by taking a foreign language test. All winners were recognized at the Recognition Assembly on March 25. The top scorers for the Foreign Language Test were Kathleen Carrigan in French and Perla Rodriguez in Spanish. These competitions, along with classroom activities, added to the spirit of Foreign Language Week. Senior Joycelyn Stevenson summed it up by saying, "Foreign Language Week enables students who are taking both languages to come together for a common goal. I thoroughly enjoyed it."

Slam it, Kariem!! Senior Kariem Jones shines like a star on the basketball court during the Football Relay, as he jumps with all his might to score points for the senior class on Fun Night.

How fast can she make it to the top? Sophomores Joey Filush, Nettie Pierce, Laura Walters, and Amy Ridings help that dare-devil Tee Epps climb the ladder on her way to success and glory.

All tied up and no place to go . . . Senior David Tyre does his class proud as he prepares to battle and pull his way to victory against the underclassmen during the boys' tug-of-war competition.

Don't drop that egg!! Eighth graders Jennifer Hatin, Barbara Copeland, Melanie Minix, Andrew Lizek, and Lee Barrineau are anxious to keep the egg moving in the Over-and-Under Egg Relay.

Barrel O' Laughs

A Night of fun at MDS

Fun Night, held on March 11, was a festive event in which the classes compete with each other in a variety of creative, fun, and interesting activities. Some of this year's events included the Pyramid Race, in which the contestants attempt to form a pyramid as quickly as possible; the Potato Roll, where the participants take turns rolling a potato across the basketball court; and the Dizzy-Izzy, where the students spin around at the end of a baseball bat ten times and attempt to run to the other end of the basketball court. The Over-and-Under Egg Relay, one of the most delicate of all the Fun Night competitions, requires that the members of the team pass an unboiled egg over their heads and in between their knees without dropping it. Tug-of-War, the Football Hoop Relay, and the ever-popular Dress a Boy/Dress a Girl Contest all provided a lot of entertainment for the spectators. Each class received points for placing first, second, or third in the various competitions and for the number of students that attended this event. "I had a wonderful time watching all of the events. It was even better because we carried on the tradition of the senior class' domination of the events and came from behind to win! Fun Night was great!" commented senior Cerelymندا Rountree.

Now there's a mighty fine lookin' lady!!! Juniors Chad Timms and Erin Wood easily trade places during the Dress a Boy /Dress a Girl Contest.

Rollin', rollin', rollin'. Keep them taters rollin'!!! Senior Matt Monds rolls his way down the victory path as Heather Demere cheers him on.

Look Out! She's a comin' at ya!!! Senior Avril Cobb has a hard time making it to the finish line during the Dizzy-Izzy race at Fun Night.

Small but Important

High schoolers to be

The Middle School has always been a very important part of the Mount de Sales family, and this year was no exception. Whether racing after school from class to cheerleading practice for an upcoming pep rally or sprinting to the C-team girls basketball games, the seventh and eighth graders were always in the middle of whatever was happening. The year started out with JV football practices and games, writing and performing a skit for Homecoming Week, and planning a Christmas party where the money raised was used to buy gifts for underprivileged people in a local nursing home. As the year progressed, the middle schoolers participated in a variety of activities that displayed their intellectual abilities, as well as their athletic skills. From the National Junior Honor Society inductions in January and the eighth graders' performance for their relatives on Grandparent's Day in February, to Middle School Math Day and the Saint Patrick's Day party in March, the seventh and eighth graders were always on the move. The spring was as eventful as the rest of the school year, with events such as the preparation and serving of a Seder Supper, during which they learned the true meaning of Passover, and Middle School Literary Day, in which many of the students took part in competition.

"Because I'm cool like that!" Vari Brown looks like he is the center the universe for seventh graders Kelly Wolfenbarger and Jane Dixon.

"I saw Alison dancing with Santa Claus . . ." Alison Hager and Michael Walton dance after being announced as the Clauses at the Christmas Dance.

Stop! In the name of love . . . Seventh grader Julia Hall browses through the karaoke songbook at the Middle School's St. Patrick's Day party.

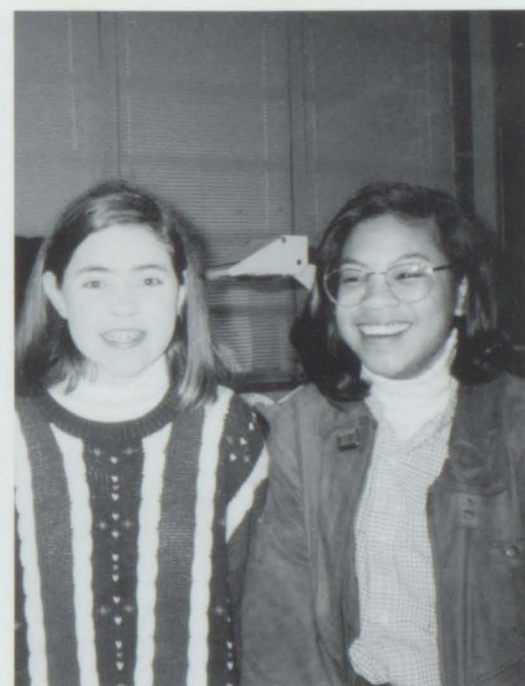

Watch out middle school, here I come!! Seventh grader Michelle Craig eagerly enters the middle school building with a positive attitude and with high hopes for the wonderful day ahead.

Oh, what a man!!! Seventh grader Mitch Johnson struts his stuff at the pep rally with his newly won badge of honor as he makes his way back to the middle school section of the bleachers.

Was it really that funny? Eighth grader Lesley Anne Jordan shares a joke or two with her grandmother after participating in the Middle School National Junior Honor Society inductions.

Friends are friends forever ... Seventh graders Andrea Tice and Melanie Brown seem to enjoy being in each other's company after a long, exhausting day of difficult classes and hard work.

Hey, what's the rush? Are you running a little late? Junior Brandi Cook dashes madly out of Mercy Hall, apparently in a hurry to be on time for her next class, World History with Mr. Parker.

"You look marvelous, darling . . ." Junior Megan Hester mentally and physically prepares herself for her performance as Danielle in the state award-winning one-act play, The Children's Story.

Look deep into my eyes!!! Eighth grader Walter Huellemier shows off his super-cool physique, dazzling smile, and astonishing dancing abilities at the Middle School Saint Patrick's Day party.

We wuv you dissss much . . . After the game-winning kick was made, Senior Jared Downs shows the soccer team how much they are appreciated as he urges them on to another victory.

A Day in the Life of a Cavalier

Blue and Gold Spirit

It seems that there is no typical day in the life of a Mt. de Sales student. With alternate schedules and varying classes, the school day is always changing. However, even with all of the daily confusion, there are some constants. Whether trying to get to the next class in three minutes, rushing off-campus for a fast-food meal, or madly scribbling down answers to the day's homework, MDS students are always on the go. This doesn't mean that they don't have their laid-back moments. On a "typical" day, one can find Cavaliers enjoying the time given to them for lunch and free-periods. These hours are filled with laughter, as students enjoy each other's companionship and crazy senses of humor. Senior Mary Ann Jacobson said, "My favorite part of the day is free-period. It gives me time to relax and have fun." Later on, these people may take advantage of the many extra-curricular activities that MDS has to offer. Participation, sports, publications, and the arts thrive at MDS. Not only that, every student contributes to the active community of Mt. de Sales. Individualism lends itself to a variety of talents, personalities, and expressions that are unique to MDS. Students know this, as is evident by their fresh desire to excel academically, athletically, artistically, and socially.

What a performance! Rachel Jones, Becky Sizemore, and Shana Alverson socialize during a gathering after a production of the MDS one-act play.

Reverently, Senior Nick Dattilo receives holy communion during one of Mount de Sales' masses, which was held for the student body in the gym.

Quiet study. Together, seniors Atswei Lomo and Erin Gilbert casually review a few encyclopedia articles while doing research in the library.

Creating Memories

Working on the Prom

As always, the junior class was responsible for coming up with an awesome theme and spectacular decorations for the Junior-Senior Prom. Many juniors felt that this was a wonderful way to show the seniors just how much they appreciate them by working to make the Prom the best ever. The Junior-Senior was also a fun way for the juniors to spend time with their classmates while at the same time learning new skills. Rachael Mazza agreed by saying, "It was really fun, and we all worked really hard." Working on a big project like the prom preparation brought the junior class together. It was a great way for the juniors to bond with the classmates they did not know well. Marie Brown says, "It was a great experience getting to know the other side of my classmates." Kathleen Carrigan said, "It was a chance to work with people I had never worked with." Working on prom really brought the members of the junior class a feeling of unity. Spending hours on weekends and during school hanging crepe paper and cutting out date walls provided the hard-working juniors with a sense of commitment. The final result was a gym that was transformed into "A Night in Venice" and a prom night that was worthy of Mount de Sales' pride. This is one event that will be remembered for a long time.

Don't bother the man!!! Junior Melvyn Williams does not seem pleased to be interrupted from his steadfast work on the prom decorations.

Poised and ready for action ... Junior Zack Matovu crouches on the gym floor in order to get a better view of the decorations for prom.

Searching for the perfect idea ... Junior Rachel Mazza ponders over a picture of Venice searching for the perfect addition to the backdrop.

You want me to do what?! Susan Locks takes a short break from her diligent efforts to help the junior class prepare for the Junior/Senior Prom by making elegant designs for the date walls.

Only ten more miles of streamers to go!!! Marianna LaVecchia patiently hangs braided strands of multi-colored streamers from the bulletin board as part of the decorations for the cafeteria.

Hey, what's so funny, you guys? Junior Kathleen Carrigan seems to be having a great time working on the Prom, but Kriston Roman doesn't seem to understand what the joke is all about.

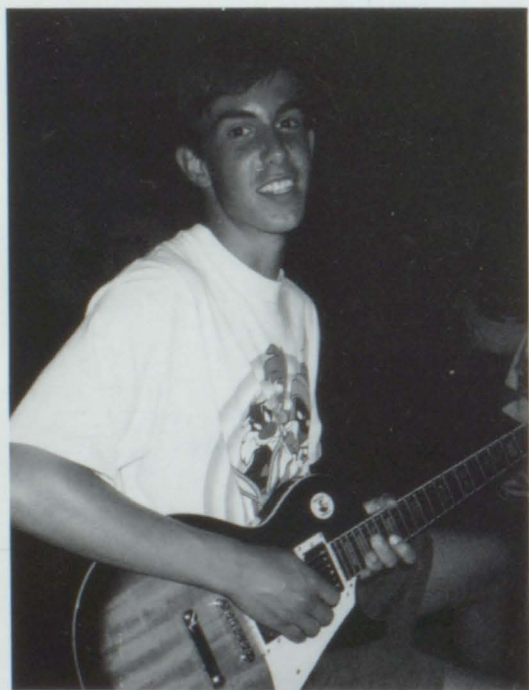

"Daniel, how's the air up there?" Juniors Cory Dockrell and Mary Pope ask Daniel Dod as he carefully balances on the ladder while stringing up yards of ribbon across the ceiling of the gym.

►Where have all the flowers gone? Seventh-graders Emily Andrews and Kirsten Reise get into the spirit of Positive Attitudes Day by having their faces painted with bright sunflowers and daisies.

♥“How did I ever get myself into this mess?” Senior Jenny Harrelson looks around warily to catch a quick glimpse of her opponent as she suits up for her first experience with sumo-wrestling.

♣Not just singin'! Sophomore David Stahl finds a unique and interesting way to relax during the afternoon festivities of Positive Attitudes Day as he plays a simple melody on the guitar.

♣Good food and good friends — what could be better? Seniors Catherine McCarren, Michelle Blay, Tyler Rogero, and Melissa Huser enjoy the special lunch that was scheduled for the day.

A Positive Perspective

Positive Attitudes Prevail at MDS

With all of the negative attitudes that seem to be floating around today, it's nice to know that someone somewhere is working to promote a little optimism. Mount de Sales' all-day celebration of Positive Attitudes Day achieved this goal and brought smiles to the faces of students and faculty, while teaching them a valuable lesson about life in the process. This more serious aspect of the day was brought into the limelight for the first time this year. Students spent the entire morning learning from inspirational tapes and unique speakers. They also had the opportunity to learn more about each other during special discussions. After these events, the day was devoted to fun and relaxation. Hamburgers and hot-wings were served in the cafeteria, and entertainment was provided by the talent show and the sumo-wrestling competition in the gym. Some brave faculty members even volunteered to sit in the dunking booth and allow students to throw softballs at them. The day ended with a special basketball game between the faculty and the seniors. After the events of this fast-paced day, MDS students were definitely approaching life with a much more positive outlook. Said sophomore Stephanie Avery, "The day was really fun and I learned a lot! Even the rain couldn't dampen my high spirits!"

♣I've got you now, Andy! By the looks on Ginny Maril and Andy Wilhelm's faces, it's obvious they're having a great time on Positive Attitudes Day

♣We go together . . . Mary Pierce and Barbara Copeland show how happy they are to have talked and bonded with each other on Positive Attitudes Day.

♣Stand in the place where you are . . . Vicki Green and Aaron Gapczynski stand together and anxiously await their chance to sumo-wrestle.

A Night in Venice

Students Enjoy Prom

For this year's prom, the junior class followed a Mount de Sales tradition by creating a beautiful evening for the seniors to enjoy. Using the theme of "A Venetian Romance," the juniors captured the atmosphere of a magical night spent floating on the canals of Venice, Italy. The backdrop, a view of a canal from a bridge, added to the feeling of actually being in the famous Italian city. The music, provided by a D.J., ranged from disco to country to rap, and a video screen provided the dancers with the sight of their favorite music stars. Many of the decorations were authentic Italian souvenirs contributed by friends and family members of the juniors. These decorations made the atmosphere of the prom seem like a genuine Venetian evening. The green, white, and red streamers reflected the colors of the flag of Venice, and, combined with the gondolier hat date walls, added the perfect touch to an already perfect evening. The delicious refreshments, provided by members of the junior class, were food fit for a Venetian contessa. "The juniors did a really great job with the decorations. Their creative energies really paid off," says Amiee Ridings, a sophomore. The evening was definitely one that was enjoyed by all who came and will be remembered for years to come.

◆Catch me, I'm falling! Hey Erin, don't drop her! Senior Erin Gilbert and Kriston Roman are rocking the house down at this year's prom.

◆Don't open your mouth too wide or something might fly in !!! Senior Joy Donnell and junior Jason Hutto sparkle on the dance floor at the prom.

♣ Looking forward to the big moment, Ben Branch and his date seem to be both nervous and excited as they await their turn to cross the "Venetian bridge" during the lead-out portion of the prom.

♥ Resting your feet, Quintress? Junior Theo Mack and sophomore Quintress Leslie are taking a much needed break from the dancing and partying in order to relax and enjoy the Venetian atmosphere.

♣ Building memories that will last a lifetime, Seniors Atswei Lomo, Lashanna Farley, Avril Cobb, Chauryce Brooks, and Christi Catchings line up with their dates on the lead-out ramp.

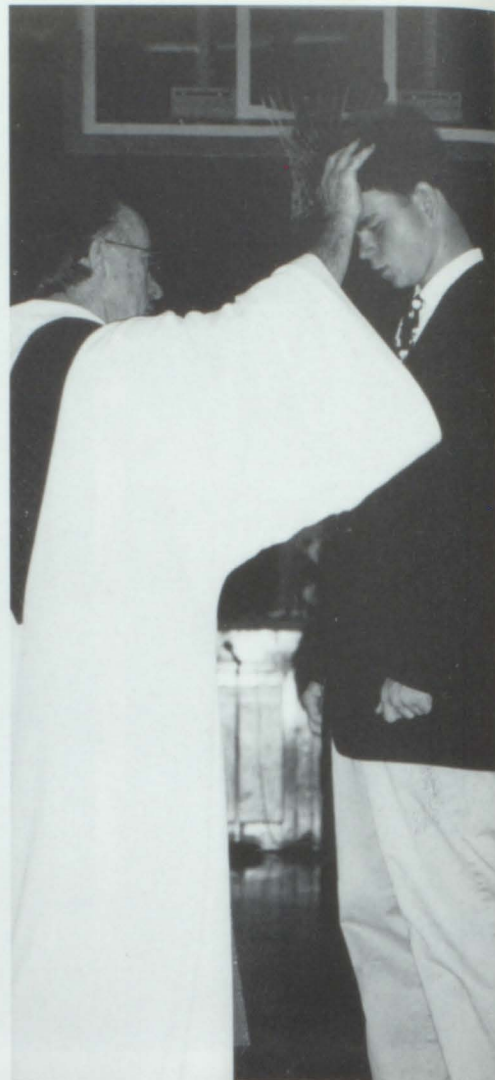

♣ Showing off their pearly whites and beautiful dresses, seniors Lisa Sinksen and Ann Peery enjoy their spectacular night of fun and dancing after going through lead-out at the Junior-Senior Prom.

✦ I bless you in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. Junior Cory Dockrell receives a blessing from Father John Cuddy during the Moving Up Day ceremonies.

✦ Standing proud and tall, newly risen seniors Michael Bradshaw and Jennifer Deaton enjoy being honored during the Moving Up Day ceremony.

Movin' On Up

When you are working your way through four long years of high school, it is important to achieve goals a step at a time. The celebration of Moving Up Day at MDS is a way to recognize this achievement. This year's Moving Up Day was held on May 26. The ceremony featured music provided by the junior members of the chorus, prayers, Biblical readings, and a reading from "Life as a Swimming Pool," a poem written by junior Jeanie Dizon. The main focus of the morning was the moment when the juniors moved up to become seniors. After Father John Cuddy's traditional address to the juniors, each individual in the class was blessed and officially became a senior. Laurent Lefevre summed up the feelings of the rising seniors by saying, "It was a long but exciting day. It's one day I'll never forget."

◆ ... and I will sail my vessel ... The junior members of the Mt. de Sales chorus sing "The River" as the closing song of the morning.

The Show Must Go On

Spring Musical

GODSPELL! This year's spring musical was centered around a collection of Bible stories that tell the story of Jesus' teachings and of His death. There were fourteen cast members who participated in this musical, which combined both comedy and drama. "The musical has been a lot of hard work, but it was a big success and has brought us all a lot closer together," commented Jennifer Wisdom, a junior cast member. The hard working cast and crew began putting this show together when school resumed after Spring Break. They continued with their diligent efforts right up to May 20 and 21, the days that this musical was performed. Seventh grader Denisha Vinson summed up the feelings of all of those who were involved in this musical production by saying, "It was great because I got to meet a lot of nice people and I got to perform in front of my friends!"

♦ "Do you really mean practice is over Mr. Dunaway? We can go???" Freshman Shelli Hill and junior Jason Hutto are glad to be through with the many long hours of exhausting but fun play practice.

▲ "O, bless the Lord my soul!" Junior Becky Sizemore raises her arms in praise as she rehearses.

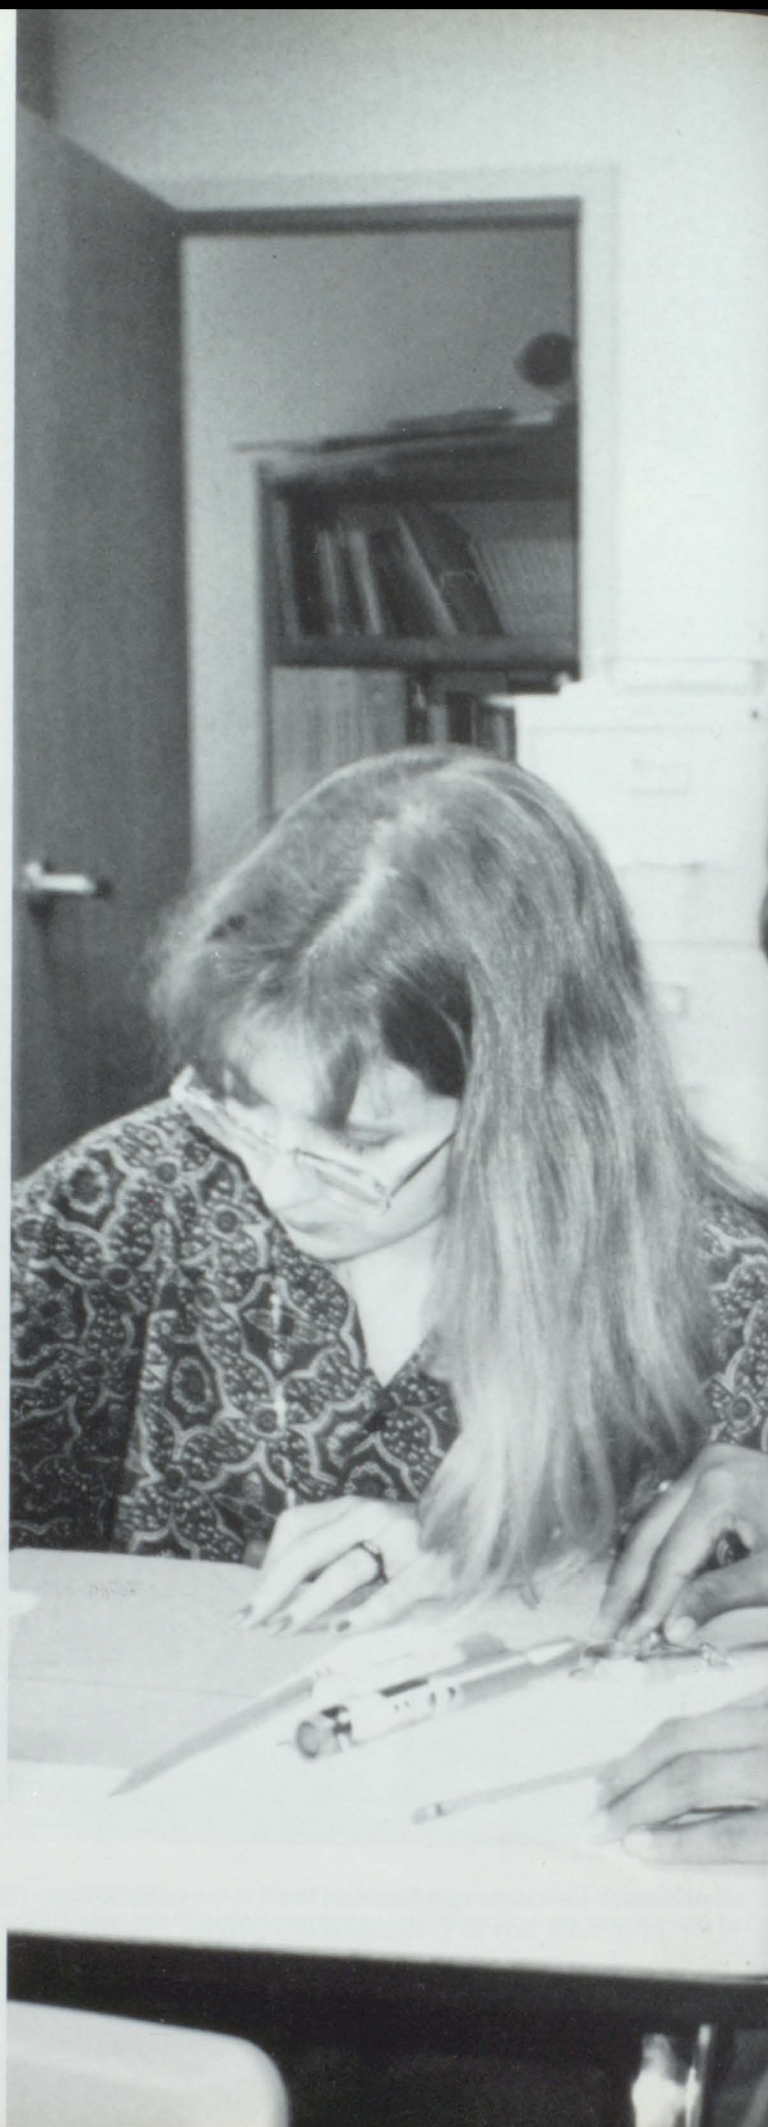

Always on the move, Literary Team member Yolanda Taylor prepares to travel to the State Literary Competition in Savannah, Georgia.

Working diligently, Spirit Support members, Quintress Leslie and Erin Parish, make spirit buttons to support our athletic teams.

Sharing different perspectives ... Student Recruitment member Joy Donnell spends the day with a Japanese student visiting the Macon area.

Leaders of Tomorrow

Every person on this year's Student Council has worked hard to represent and improve our student body. From the annual fruit sale to the blood drive, their motivation has shown their true talents and leadership. They are willing to listen to and represent the opinions and ideas of the students. Lashanna Farley is a strong leader who stands up and takes charge at every Student Council meeting. She is always there when we need someone to lean on and guide us. Erin Gilbert, vice-president, helps by filling in for Lashanna. By doing his job as secretary, David Tyre accurately takes roll. Chauryce Brooks is a terrific treasurer who has does a great job handling the finances. These four important leaders help Student Council achieve its necessary goals. They are great roll models to look up to.

Members of the SAC, Mrs. Weston, Mandy Schmitt, and Natalie Carden ponder on what decorations to use for the Valentine's Dance.

School Service

The Social Activities Committee is comprised of 25 hard-working students who are in charge of the MDS dances. Each year the club plans the decorations, food, and music of each dance. Their biggest achievement was the Christmas Dance. President Susannah Hughes showed her leadership by presiding over the meetings and planning with the moderators. The other members show their leadership by helping the meeting run smoothly. By being part of SACs everyone learns from each other and becomes closer by developing lasting friendships.

The Key Club has also had many activities this year. They have participated in basketball games, ushered at the Nutcracker and volunteered at the Methodist Home and the Children's Hospital. Their fund raising drives include car washes, candy sales, and the tee-shirt sales. This year's Key Club has worked hard to achieve their goals in the community.

"The students have been very dedicated to their purpose this year," says moderator Jeff Towdy.

Ellen Crawford, Ginger Martin, and Stephanie Sheridan work hard on the Valentine's Dance to make it special.

Supporting Through Service

The Spirit Support Group meets every Monday with task of fostering school spirit at Mount de Sales. This dedicated group makes badges to wear before sporting events and paints banners that are displayed at the games as well as around the school.

The three years of Mercy Volunteers have brought many happy moments to our community. It has grown from one volunteer to one of the largest organizations in our school. Sr. Helen has provided the volunteers with different fields of activities so that they can use their own individual talents to help others. These activities include The Grandparents Club, Pet Therapy, and the Food Bank. The most important part of the whole organization is that money is not involved. All that they ask of you is your time, heart and talents. By volunteering you discover that life is so much more than you could ever imagine.

Debate: Melissa Huser, Zalika Sapp, Jamey Huser, Aiyana Patrick, David Tyre, and Avril Cobb.

A Competitive Edge

Debate is a competition which involves two teams, the affirmative and the negative, who discuss a resolution and try to persuade a judge to vote that the defended their side better than the other team. This year's debate team was a very young team. No one on this year's team had ever debated before in a competition. The MDS debaters prepared far in advance for their region competition held at Mercer University. They learned from the experience and plan to improve on their record next year.

The Math Club is composed of students who take the Georgia Math League test. This test is given to students who sign up to compete with students from other GISA schools. This is no ordinary test that the participants take. The test is composed of only five questions each time. The test is given several times throughout the year. These students all showed their class during competition and in doing so exemplified the attitude that MDS is so well known for.

Georgia Math League participant Jennifer Deaton concentrates hard on the problems before her.

Georgia Math League: Melissa Huser, Tim Alman, Andy Wilhelm, Jennifer Deaton, Jenny Harrelson, and Chris McClung.

Debators Avril Cobb and Joycelyn Stevenson prepare the information cards that they want to use for the next debate competition.

Quick Thinkers

The Science Team, moderated by Mr. Ron McLachlan, has had a busy and award-winning year. The Science Team is made up of two teams which contain four students in each. They meet weekly after school to practice and go through mock competitions. Members of the team must be alert and well prepared in order to compete successfully. The team has gone to many competitions with several other private schools this year such as Stratford, Windsor, Tattnall, and FPD. They also competed in a competition held by WMAZ-TV. In the regoin competition, MDS brought home the second place this year. With Mr. McLachlan's guidance and support, they have had a very productive year. The Science Team hopes to continue with their winning record and even improve on this record in the years to come.

Testing their agility, Science Teamers have a practice quiz round while preparing for the "real thing!"

Journalism in Action

The yearbook staff, under the guidance of Mrs. Sinksen, meets every Thursday. This year, yearbook members have worked tirelessly to produce an annual that the entire school can be proud of. The staff has created a lasting reminder of the memories of the previous year at MDS that they hope everyone will enjoy.

The De Sales De Spatch is published to provide the school with an accurate account of the school, the general community, the nation, and the world. The staff of the DeSales DeSpatch has worked hard to inform the school of important news. Letters to the Editor are encouraged for the sharing of opinions amongst the Mt. de Sales students. This is a vital part of communication. Advisor, Mrs. Mary Frances Peery is giving our students the opportunity to express themselves and to be informed as well. This school newspaper continues to grow as it keeps MDS students informed.

Heather Demere comes up with her own way to remain stress-free at a newspaper meeting.

Jeanie Dizon, Wendy Bennett, and Rachel Parish are so focused on the next yearbook that deadline they don't even take a break for a picture.

A Tradition of Excellence

The Mount de Sales Chorus has a busy schedule that includes everything from the Candlelight Carol Service to the Spring Sing. With the talents of Mrs. Donna Washburn, they have successfully and repeatedly received superior ratings at the Georgia Music Festival. They practice hard and long to represent MDS the very best they can. During the year, they learn about everything from note values to dynamics. With every performance, they have wooed the audience and let their light shine. Our very own Cavalier Ringers chime in the Christmas spirit by performing many classic carols at the Candlelight Carol Service. The Mount de Sales Ringers are made up of several Chorus members and other proud MDS students. These talented musicians have given that extra special touch to the Christmas Tour and the annual Christmas program for the MDS students.

Expressing Ourselves

Just call me Pippi Longstocking! Displaying a child like spirit only matched by her character, Jenny Harrison strolls off to relax.

During the 1993-94 school year, the MDS Players have successfully performed for their audiences. They have worked tirelessly to provide enriching drama for the entire school to enjoy. They have participated in many dramas and plays such as Children's Story, Godspell, and An Evening of Scenes, which is done by the acting classes. Exclaims Mr. Dunaway, "MDS is building a reputation as one of the best programs for drama."

The 1993-1994 MDS literary team has been very successful this year. They have worked hard to place well in regional and state competitions. They competed in various categories including solos, duets, and quartets, personal and critical essay competitions, and spelling and oral interpretation. Due to the outstanding talent this year's literary team has shown, they captured first place in the region and third place in the state, continuing literary excellence at MDS.

Creative Leadership

The Student Recruitment Team, moderated by Mr. Jowdy, is a group of faculty recommended students who are hosts on visitation days and by giving tours to interested parents. Also, Student Recruiters are often honored guests at various meetings, such as a banquet that was hosted by Mercer University. Eight coordinators, two from each grade, serve as the leaders who plan out the activities that are to be attended. Student Recruiters voluntarily give up their free time and do an excellent job, even though they meet only twice in a school year. Next year the Student Recruitment Team plans on getting more involved and hopes to start off by changing its name to the Cavalier Ambassadors. Mr. Jowdy says, "The best part of Student Recruitment are the students. They are the ones who take of from their free time to share MDS with others who don't go here."

This year's literary magazine is much different then last year's magazine. There are more essays, stories, and poems included in the magazine. Senior Paul Marshall even lent his talents to the publication by composing a musical piece which includes instruments such as cellos, oboes, trumpets, and French horns. With the leadership of the senior editors, graphic designer, and advisors Mrs. Mead and Mrs. Dohn, this year's literary magazine staff changed their name to "Tapestry". Matt Hickey designed a new look by using a computer to give a different perspective to the publication. Also, new photographs were added by Zalika Sapp, Matt Hickey, and Abby Henderson. Altogether, this year's "Tapestry" literary magazine has improved due to the effort put in by the entire staff. This publication upholds the great standard of excellence for which Mount de Sales is known.

Helping Hands

Library Assistants are volunteers who come in every day during their spare time to help Mr. Vullo in the library. Their tasks range from reshelving books and magazines which have already been used to helping students with the photocopying machine. The one requirement they must meet to be an assistant is that they cannot be on academic probation. By being a helper, many students learn a great deal about the library that they didn't already know. More importantly, they get valuable experience by learning how to handle responsibility.

The Grandparent's Club is a group of middle school students who have a desire to serve. The Grandparent's Club is moderated by Sr. Helen. These students plan activities such as the Halloween Party, Christmas Party, and an Easter Egg Hunt for senior citizens. The Grandparent's Club also makes cards for Valentine's Day, Christmas, and Halloween for the elderly.

The Tradition Continues

The National Honor Society is devoted to giving recognition to the many students who have outstanding academic achievements and who are totally devoted to their school. Students must have an academic average of 90 or above and a recommendation from faculty members which says that they show the necessary leadership qualities. Members attend six yearly meetings and provide the faculty with a luncheon during Catholic Schools Week.

The Spanish Honor Society honors Mount de Sales' outstanding Spanish students and promotes the study of the Spanish language and culture. To be a member of this society, students must be in at least the third level of Spanish and have an A average in Spanish and a B average overall and a recommendation from one of the faculty.

The French Honor Society is devoted to honoring students who have excelled in the study of the French language and culture. To be a member, student must be in at least the third level of French and have an A average in French and a B average overall, as well as a teacher recommendation.

The Art Honor Society is devoted to rewarding art students and fostering an understanding of the arts. To be a member, students must have an A average in art and a B average overall as well as having built up an art portfolio and a teacher's recommendation.

The members of these honor societies excel in all areas and exemplify Mount de Sales' commitment to excellence.

GRAD NITE

The most memorable twenty-four hours the seniors will never forget began Saturday morning. The trip officially started at Mount De Sales where seniors met together to load on the buses. The first official stop was King Henry's Feast where dinner was served in medieval fashion. There were performers between each course for example. Magicians, trapeze performers, and knife swallowers were part of the entertainment. The last stop was the Magic Kingdom. Once inside the park, seniors enjoyed live entertainment from bands and rides. Trying to stay awake all night was part of the fun along with trying to find a comfortable spot to sleep. It was an experience filled with happiness and memories.

♥Reliving the lives of medieval figures these seniors display their enthusiasm as they begin their journey that will last well into the early morning.

▲Packed and ready to go! Piper Allen waits patiently for the moment to get on the bus for the ride home.

▲The fun never stops! Displaying much eagerness, these senior girls show that a full night of excitement is never too much for them to handle.

▲Are you asleep? The night is not over yet. Melanie Koch and Susanna Hughes show that Grad-Nite was fun and exciting, but they are ready to go home.

▲ Alison Jennart and Allison Burns show how close their true friendship is.

LASTING FRIENDSHIPS

Close friendships with others are rare and precious gifts in life. During the four years that students attend Mount de Sales, they have the opportunity to form strong and longlasting bonds with their classmates. Friendship, by definition, is the condition of one person knowing and liking another. However, this fundamental necessity is not the only characteristic of friendships. Trust, honesty, and understanding are some other traits of a strong friendship. Talking on the phone, vacationing, going to the movies or the mall, and basically planning their calendar around each other, are common activities that friends do together. Not only are these popular rites of being a friend, but Mount de Sales friends say that they also enjoy watching cheezy movies, giving each other animal nicknames, playing practical jokes on each other, and some friends even say that they "share a brain."

"To lunch or not to lunch? That is the question." Senior pals Carlos Pascual, John Murphy, and Paul Marshall enjoy philosophizing together during their lunchtime in the cafeteria.

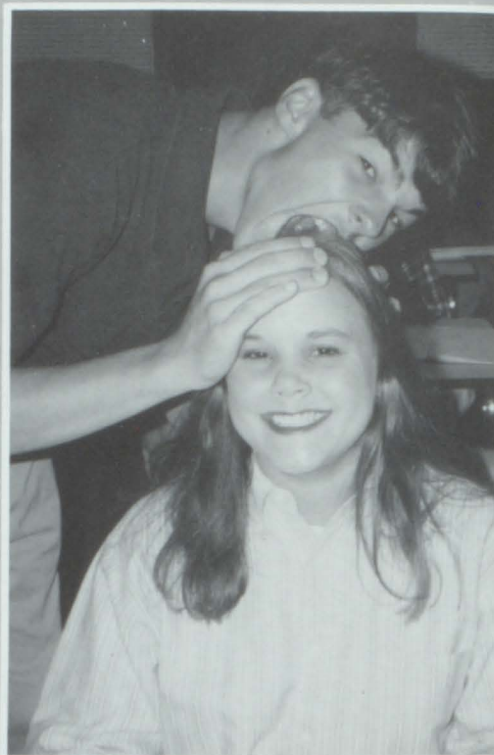

Hugs! Pals Melanie Union and Windy Lester can't bare the thought of leaving each other.

Won't you be my friend? Amanda Mandel and Amy White need not worry over this question.

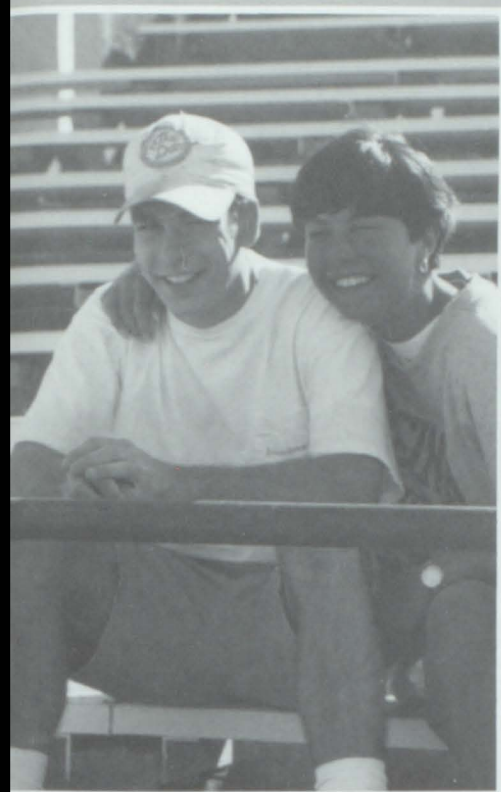

"Mmmm ... Brains!" Jared Downs tries to take a bite out of the head of Abby Hendersen.

Who goes there? Senior cronies Terrence Jolley and Omar Dawson are startled by the camera.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS

Every year an important event is held for special young people to participate. The Special Olympics is an event that allows physically challenged children to show off their abilities and talents. It also allows seniors from different high schools to participate by encouraging the kids to give their all and to cheer them all the way to the finish line. Mount de Sales Academy is just one of the schools to send seniors to help the children in the Special Olympics. Seniors take on the responsibility of helping the children get to the event they are participating in and to make sure that they stay with their group. Most important of all, the seniors help cheer, encourage, and show enthusiastic support for all the participants. Being able to be a part in the lives of a special child gives the seniors an experience that they will learn from and never forget. According to senior Dana Burns, "This was a great experience for me. You can learn from these kids."

Jaime Register and Ellen Crawford enthusiastically express their spirit by cheering words of encouragement on the sidelines at one of the events.

A TIME TO GET AWAY

Marking a new spot, the senior class joined together in unity for an occasion of getting acquainted with the entire class. Instead of gathering together at the traditional retreat grounds of St. Joseph's Church, the seniors conglomerated at Sacred Heart Church in Warner Robins. The senior retreat became a time for seniors to come together as a class for informal social activities. The activities were planned for seniors to work together with those that they normally did not see or have class with everyday. Each member of the class was placed in four different groups consisting of a variety of classmates. During the activities, seniors learned more about their lives and their interests. Team activities also allowed seniors to work together in unity. Events such as "In High Cotton" allowed individuals to smear vasoline on the faces of their teammates to prepare them to run and submerge their faces into bowls filled with cotton balls and order to gather as many as possible. The team with the most cotton balls was the winner. Winning races was not the main purpose of the senior retreat. It was a time to create memories that would never be forgotten. Laughter and tears were shared by many seniors as they joined together for the last time during a moment of prayer and reflection.

◆ Sweep away! Ginger Martin shows her excellent housekeeping skills as she sweeps the soccer ball across the Sacred Heart gym at the senior retreat.

◆ Comforting and consoling, Chauryce Brooks receives a reassuring hug and words of encouragement from a classmate.

◆ Where is the egg? Cerelymanda Rountree and Atswei Lomo realize that they lost their egg during the egg relay.

“X” MARKS THE SPOT

In 1989, twenty-seven students from the class of 1994 began their middle and high school careers at Mount de Sales Academy. During that year, the seventh grade class buried a time capsule behind Mercy Hall. In this time capsule, they put in a resume of themselves, which contained questions about their likes and dislikes of the year, and different pictures, newspaper clippings, and coins from that year. The time capsule was to be opened on May 18, 1994 and the contents revealed.

◆Cool, it works! Jody Yarbrough and Madalyn McDaniel are amazed that the metal detector works, but how?

▲Where could they possibly be? Windy Lester's feet appear to be as deep in the ground as the time capsule.

CLASS C

BACCALAUREATE

The Monday night Baccalaureate Mass is a spiritual tradition looked forward to by all, especially the senior class. The Baccalaureate Mass allows all the seniors to come together and experience a closeness that can only be felt through the unity at Mount De Sales Academy. It also allows all the seniors to give thanks for a memorable year by bearing special gifts, by presenting readings, and by being present. No senior from the Class of 1994 will ever forget Monday night, May 23, 1994. It is the beginning of the opening of many new doors that will be fully opened with graduation.

◆Ginger Martin and Rebecca Pischke lead the senior class out of St. Joseph's Church after Baccalaureate Mass.

▲John Murphy and Jared Downs are being inspired by Father Cuddy's sermon and reflecting upon their past years.

◆It's almost over says seniors Brandon Lockhart and Ann Peery as they enjoy the reception following the Mass.

GRADUATION

Graduation night — the excitement of it all! Feelings of sadness, anxiety, and overwhelming joy fill the thoughts of the graduates. The evening was extravagant. Dignified and nervous, the graduates marched to their places in wait of the symbol of the completion of their high school careers, their diplomas. The valedictory and salutatory speeches, made by Jennifer Harrelson and Melissa Huser, were inspirational to both the class and the audience. Melissa's address evoked fond memories in the minds of the class, while Jenny's address gave us a piece of advice that can guide us through life.

◆Are you nervous yet? Vanessa Barfield and Shana Alverson wait patiently just minutes before graduation.

◆Say cheese! Melanie Union, Windy Lester, and Mandy Jordan are smiling big now that they have their diplomas.

♦Why is Lindsay Gavin so dressed up? Duh! Sophomore Lindsay Gavin gets into the spirit of Homecoming during Dress-Up Day.

♥Battling the end-of-the-day blues ... Standing at his locker, junior Beniko Carswell looks thrilled to be leaving school.

Coop-Dogg is in the house! Sophomore Nathan Cooper gazes into the camera while eating his lunch, wishing he could go off-campus.

SOPHOMORES

With flat feet, a straight back, and not looking at her hands, sophomore Janelle Rutherford works hard to finish her production for keyboarding.

Enjoying each other's company, sophomore cheerleaders Melissa Raffield, and Nettie Pierce have a few laughs after cheering.

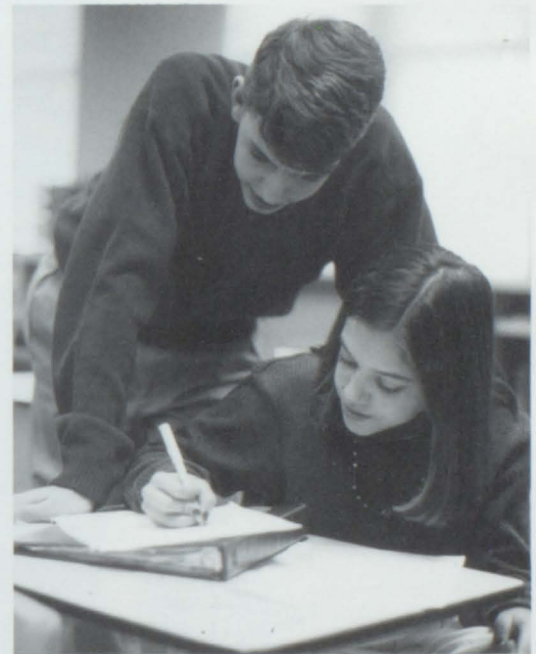

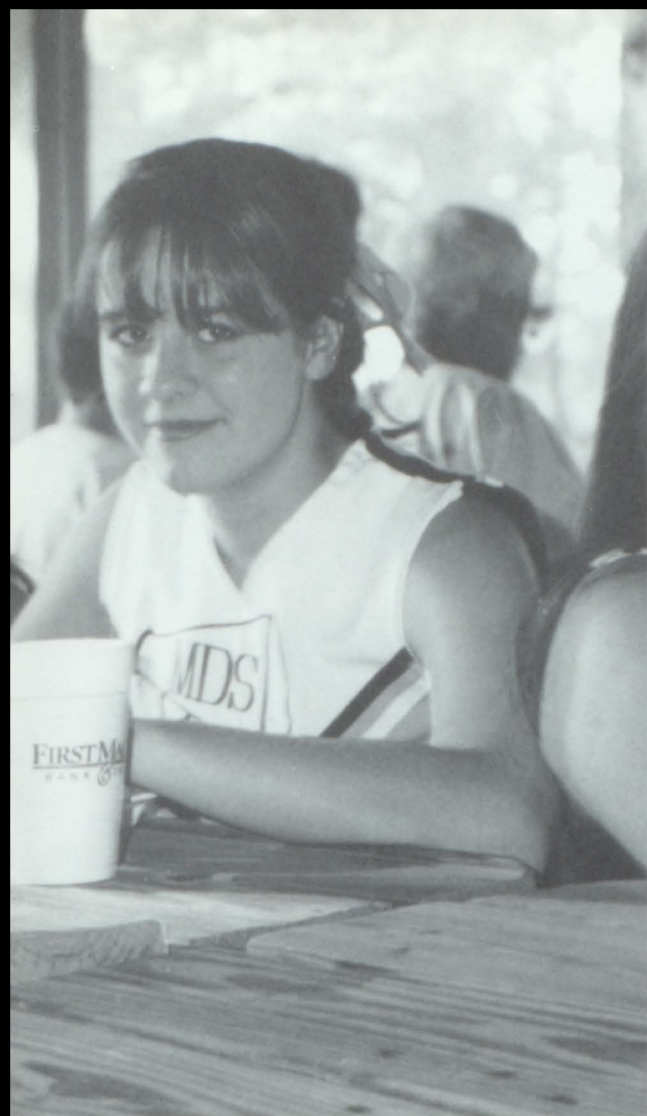

At the Mercy Day assembly, Frank Mummert reads a petition for the faithful to a prayerful audience.

Enjoying their thirty minute lunch are Tiffany Melendez and Cladie Washburn.

We didn't see anything Mon! Reeves Coates and Jamey Huser enjoy an out-of-dress code day with a cool new Jamaican wardrobe as part of the Homecoming week activities.

Can I help you? Nathan Cooper lends Erin Parish a helping hand with a tough math assignment.

Smile! The sophomore girls are beaming at the chance to enjoy another Student Appreciation Day.

What, me worry? Michelle Kenderick doesn't seem too concerned about her upcoming English test.

The sophomore class has definitely made a name for itself at Mount De Sales. Their involvement in school has proven that they class have the leadership abilities to get them far in life. Yet this class is not all work and no fun. In a recent survey, the sophomore class told of what their interests included outside of school.

FRESHMEN

They're movin' on up. The freshmen class has proven itself to be an attribute to the school by its involvement in extra-cirricular activities.

Have you given blood? Mandy Schmitt and Cindy Dockrell help the Student Council run its annual blood drive by registering donors.

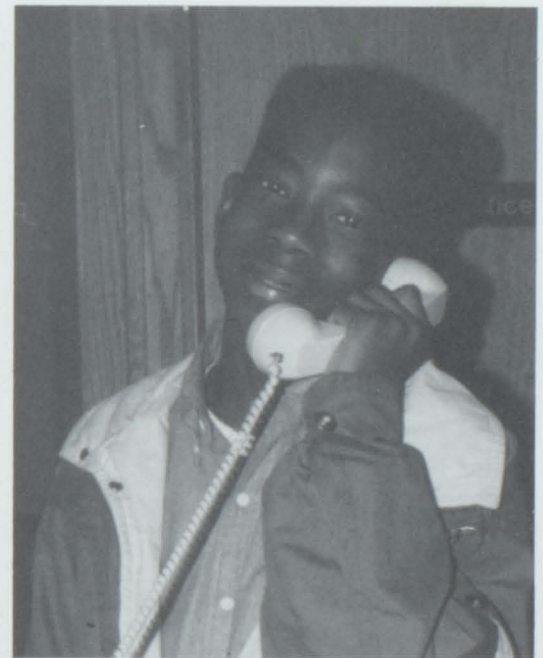

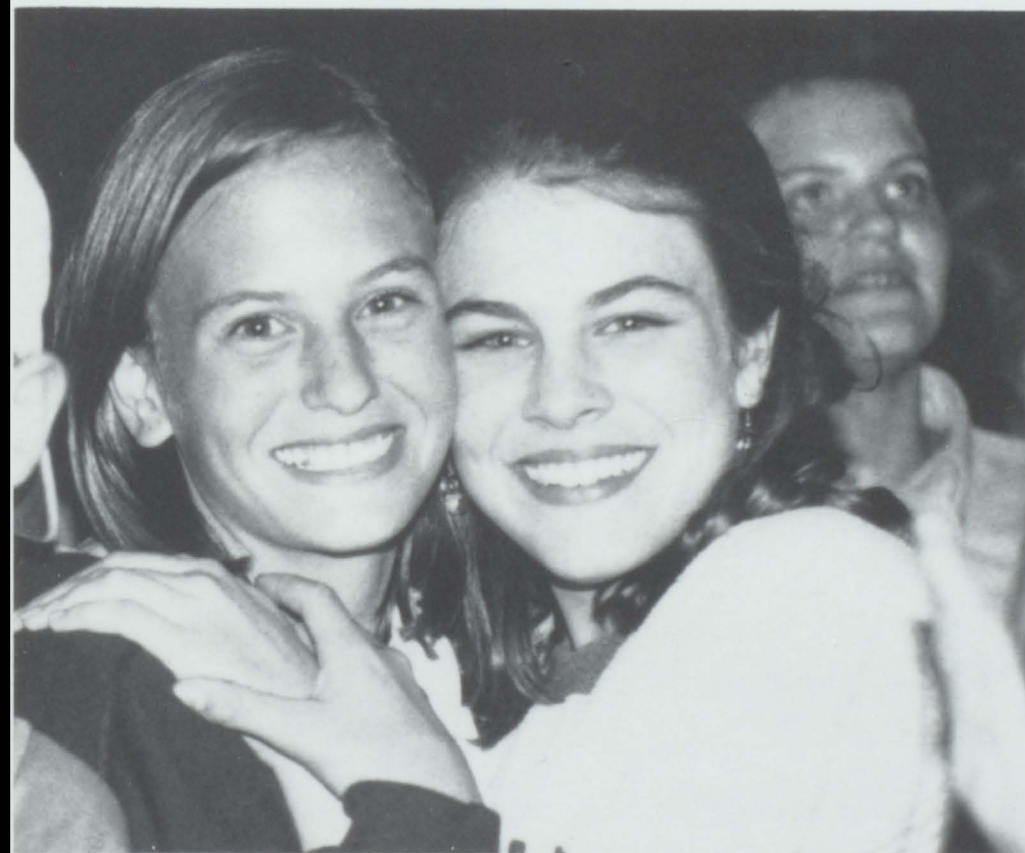

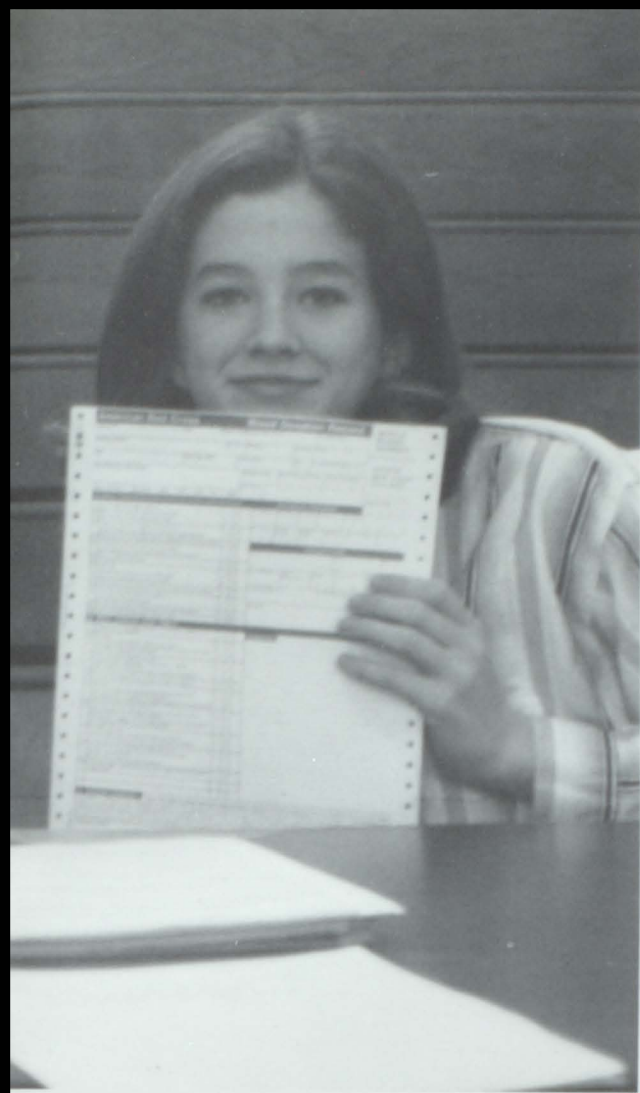

We are one in the spirit. Expressing a sense of peace Amber Baxter brings gifts to the altar.

Dona Cortes, Sarah Hope, Betsy Schnel and Julie Sams show their friendship.

Freshmen Natalie Carden, Cheryl Parks, Brandi Taylor, and Misti Mosely lead the opposing team, the Windsor Knights, against the mighty Cavaliers in a football skit.

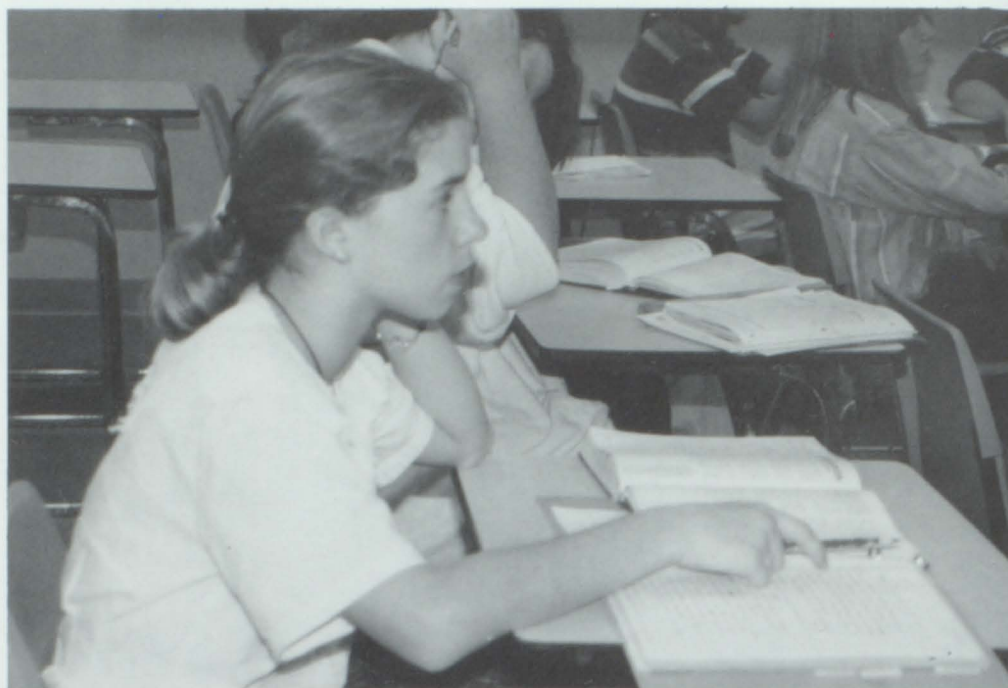

Hello ... mom? Eric Morris calls his mother desperately trying to find a ride home from school.

We love a celebration! Wendy Hatcher and Stephanie Wolfenbarger enjoy the bonfire activities.

This year's freshman class is a close bunch! When viewing their results on favorite activities, you wouldn't believe the similarities we found. From T.V to music, their interests fit together. Even with 123 different students, this group is alike in so many ways.

State Champions!

The 1993 Mount de Sales varsity soccer team had a great season this year. They won the State Championship, but their coach of nine years retired. Coach John Dattilo helped to start the soccer program at MDS. He has led the Cavaliers to seven region championships, two state championships, and five state runners-up. As Coach Dunaway said in the fall sports assembly, "Over the nine year period of Coach Dattilo's tenure the MDS soccer team has been, without a doubt and without exception, the most dominating GISA athletic program in any major sport." In the State Championship Tournament, MDS defeated Fredrica Academy in the semi-finals and went on to defeat Westminster Academy in the Final with a score of 6-5. Joey Filush stated, "It was absolutely exciting!"

MDS goalkeeper Will Sheehan stops another shot by the opposing team and in doing so preserves his GISA leading goal-against average.

Chizomam Okehi uses quick foot-work to dribble into the goal past the Stratford defenders.

In The Works

The Mount de Sales 1993-94 varsity football team fought hard throughout the entire season. Although it was a difficult season for them, and their record was not what they wanted it to be, the team gained a lot of important experience and will be even stronger for next year's season. Coach Kirk Parker was quoted saying, "From the experience gained this year, next year's team will be a force to be dealt with by all opponents." This year's team fought hard despite the morale-breaking effect of negative predictions by the newspaper concerning their upcoming games. They worked hard and overcame the stereotypes that were given to them by the newspapers. This year's team was a very young team, so in the years to come, with the gained experience, we will definitely be a powerful and successful team. The football fans stood by their beloved team all year, and supported the team to the end. The fans support was an important part of the season. Their courage to stand in there despite everyone telling them they couldn't do it is one reason for us to be proud of our football team. We can hope that next year they will make us as proud of them as we were last year.

Striving For A Greater Tomorrow

The 1994 MDS junior varsity football team gained a lot of good experience for their coming years. As they dreamed of their future days as varsity players for Mount de Sales, they worked diligently towards a good season. As encouraged by Coach Midkiff, "It's a very talented team. They showed great promise. We have many great football seasons to look forward to in the future." The team had a difficult start, but worked continually to better themselves to win against Westfield, Monroe, and Stratford. As Cobb Pearson said, "We have high hopes of doing well when we get older."

Look out, slow defenders! In the fourth game of the season vs. Tattall, speedy Chris Carroll gets the ball and goes on to score a touchdown.

Swinging Their Way to Success

Junior varsity softball had a good season in the 1993-94 school year. During this season, our players competed against many other talented teams from region 2AAA. When these players were asked for their thoughts on the season, Katy Owenby and Stacey Goodman both replied, "It was exciting!" Stephanie Hill, a new student at Mount de Sales, described her experience as "a great way to get to know people." And when Melissa Alverson was asked for her thoughts, her reply was, "It was a great learning experience." Overall, the team was pleased with their season's final record of twelve wins and six losses. They learned from the games that they played and many of them plan to go on to participate in varsity softball next year.

One Step Closer

With only one returning senior, and three returning starters, no one was sure what to expect from this year's varsity girls softball team. Despite these setbacks, they finished the year with a record of 24-6, and a region record of 7-1. Senior Melanie Koch finished the season leading all of the hitters with an impressive .480 batting average. "We had great senior leadership from Melanie," commented Coach Hatcher. The Lady Cavaliers defeated Westwood and Windsor in the state qualifying round, and defeated Westfield and Monroe in the finals before losing to Tattnall to come in second in state. Danielle Cooper felt that, "The girls had a good season. Although we didn't accomplish our goal of a state championship, we were very happy with our performance."

The boys varsity basketball team had an exciting time during this 1993-1994 school year. The coaches were Robert Slocum, and Don Sherwood. The team represented Mount de Sales well, playing twenty-seven games and winning fourteen of them. Among others, they played: Stratford, Westfield, FPD, Windsor, and Tattnall. To compete against these teams, they travelled everywhere, from MDS to Georgia College. Our team then competed in region and went on to the semi-finals. There was always great support for the team in every game, following them through all their wins and losses. We had our hopes set high for the state championships, but it fell through at the end. We are all very proud of our team for giving it their best and showing off the Cavalier style.

Can You Believe It?

The 1994 girls' varsity basketball team did what no girls' team has done before; they won the state championship! The girls always felt that they could grasp the elusive title of state champs. Junior Danielle Cooper said, "We knew the Championship was ours, it was just a matter of seizing it." And seize it they did. They started out early with hard practices. The senior leadership was great. Melanie Koch, Lashanna Farley, Susannah Hughes, and Chauryce Brooks provided many years of basketball experience. MDS fans present at the championship game felt the intensity as the game stayed close. All of the fans rejoiced to see the girls' title come to MDS. And the happiest of them all had to be the seniors who saw four years of hard work pay off in a big way.

Up And Coming

The B-team basketball team played diligently throughout the season. With the help of a few part-time varsity players the B-team had a fairly good season. Coach Don Sherwood applied his knowledge of basketball to teach and prepare these B-teamers for varsity level play. As Joey Filush said, "Playing on the B-team has taught me alot." The B-team is also a chance for players to learn new skills and gain experience." Watching the B-team play is great fun to watch and to cheer for," said Cindy Dockrell.

Cavs on the Move

The 1993-94 Mount de Sales girls B-team basketball team played a hard season, but were a little short of perfect. The girls played well under their new coach, Jan Gray. She taught the girls well and they all agreed that they learned a lot from her. They played well under her direction and learned many new skills and strategies that will help them on down the road. Sophomore Mary Pierce commented, "It was a lot of fun playing on the team. We got along very well." The Mount de Sales varsity girls basketball team should benefit greatly in the future from the help of these girls.

Promise For The Future

This year's eighth grade boy's basketball team knew the season would be tough, but hard work, practice, and determination allowed them to finish the season with the an outstanding winning record of ten and three. Not only did they have a good record, but Coach Paul Midkiff and Coach Ken Garvin guided the team to win the Championship. With all of the talent on the team, and the great coaches at Mount de Sales, the future high school players will be valuable as-sets to the varsity teams.

A Bright Future

This year's seventh grade boy's basketball team finished the season with another winning record. Coach Paul Midkiff and Coach Ken Garvin did a terrific job in starting out these young basketball players. They finished with an amazing nine and three record. In the tournament they made it all the way to the semi-finals where they were defeated after a hard fought game. With the great coaches and outstanding players, they are bound to play an important part in the future of Mt. de Sales basketball.

Meeting The Challenge

The C-team girl's basketball team worked hard this season at practice and it all payed off, because they won the championship. With the coaching talents of Ms. Amos and Mrs. Gray the players learned a great deal and gained much experience. These skills will be used as they get older to help MDS win more championships. Look for these girls in the future as the star players of the varsity team.

The Look Of Leaders

The C-team basketball cheerleaders added enthusiasm and spirit to the already existing C-team basketball teams. Headed by Carrie Pierce the squad did a great job of cheering on our C-team sports this year. They began during basketball season by cheering on the seventh and eighth grade teams. With cheerleaders like these, the spirit will not be lacking at Mount de Sales in the years to come.

We've Got Spirit

With outstanding spirit and unmatched enthusiasm the B-team basketball cheerleaders cheered on the teams. As Julie Sams said, "We worked together and became a great squad." Composed of all freshmen, this year's squad worked hard and at times were allowed to help out the varsity cheerleading teams at various sporting events. These cheerleaders will make a great varsity squad.

The Heart Of The Spirit

Varsity Cheerleading was one of the most spirited afterschool activities at MDS. Tryouts were held in the spring and those selected went on to cheerleading camp during the summer to prepare for the upcoming year. With these feats accomplished, they started the new school year with excitement for the blue and gold. Our girls were involved in the soccer, football and basketball seasons. While encouraging our players to go for the gold, this squad attended and cheered at the games, and prepared for and led the pep rallies. Our cheerleaders helped inspire great school spirit.

It's Outta Here!

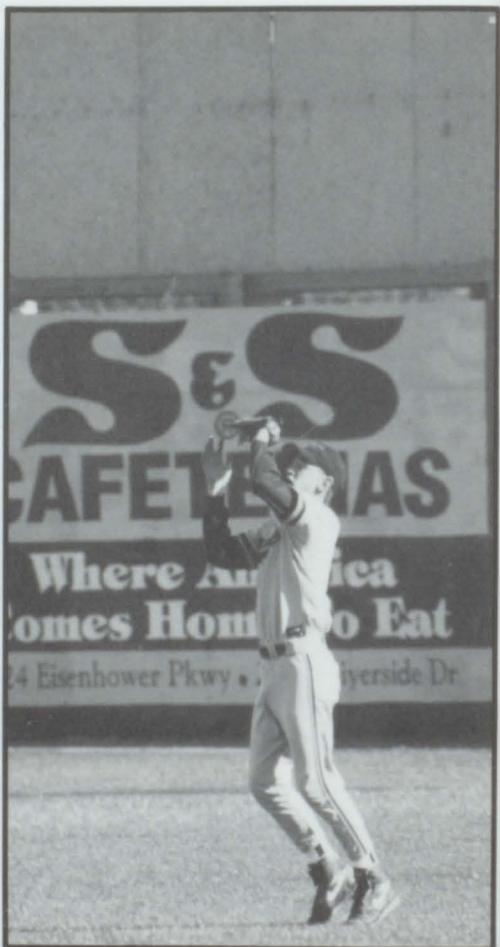

The MDS varsity baseball team had many expectations at the beginning of the season. Cody Hale, John Herndon, and Kevin DeMichiel helped solve some defensive problems, while the offense returned with high hopes. The team won in the first round of state, but lost a close game in the second round. These two games were considered by many to be among the best played all year. The Cavaliers ended their season with a record of nine wins and eleven losses. Seniors Brandon Lockhart and Kevin DeMichiel showed much leadership. Coach Pierce said, "The team came out from day one, and practiced. They had some bad breaks, with losing two players, the upcoming seasons hold much promise."

Swing Into Action

It was a long, hard season for the Mount de Sales junior varsity baseball team. But, in true Cavalier tradition, they made the best of the season. The not-so-great season was a time of maturing and growing as a team. Like all junior varsity teams, there is no threat of a graduating senior, so they all will be playing together next year. Wes Kurzen said, "I love Coach Pierce and really look forward to playing next year. We're gonna win!" The experience these young Cavaliers gained this year is immeasurable.

Competing As One

The 1994 Mount de Sales golf team performed well in all the matches they played this year. The golf team, consisting of only three seniors, Jody Yarbrough, Jimmy Thornburg, and Matt Fitzpatrick, had an outstanding year considering the odds that they were up against. With one middle schooler and, for the first time, two girls playing, they came in third in the region tournament and ninth out of fifteen teams at the state tournament. "The golf season was a fun and exciting one, but it was also a learning experience because of the different courses we played," quoted Melissa Alverson.

Serving An Ace

This year's boy's tennis team did surprisingly well considering all the new faces. With hard practice, the team had a winning record. The performance at the region tournament won them a first place in region and sent Andy Wilhelm onto the state tournament. Plagued by fatigue and the flu, Andy played hard and captured a second consecutive state championship, beating his new rival, Tracy Walker of Stratford. "Although we played well this year, we were still young, and next year we'll be number one!" said Wilhelm.

A Winning Future!

The 1993-94 Mount de Sales girl's tennis team enjoyed another good year of tennis. Although only limited success was enjoyed this year, Coach Parker, the new head coach of girl's tennis, feels positive about the coming season. "We're not losing any senior's and we will continue to grow. Next year we will dominate," says Parker. The girls took a liking to Coach Parker. "He's a good Coach and a great friend. I had a lot of fun playing with him," says Megan Cullinan. With occasional victories throughout the season, the team sent 1 player to state, Katy Crosby, who lost in the first round.

Running In Stride

This year's Mount de Sales track team was composed primarily of younger students. Despite the inexperience of the team, the mile relay team received third in the region track meet and went to Albany to take seventh in the state meet. Frank Mummert took sixth in the 300 meter hurdles at the state competition. With the talent and speed of the younger runners, the MDS track team will be a powerful force in the years to come.

Key to the Future

The Mount de Sales girl's track team worked hard all season at practice and it showed at the meets. They competed well against Athens Christian, George Walton, Monroe, Tattnall, and Westfield, and placed third in the region. Stacy Goodman set a school record in the 800 meter run. "Overall, we had a very dedicated group of girls. We were very young, so we lacked experience. But hopefully, next year, the experience gained this year will pay off. I am proud of their efforts," Coach Lynn Hatcher concluded.

To my faithful friend Windy, who throughout the years, has always been with me. I don't know what I would do without
you. Thanks for everything.
I love you,

Melanie '94

To my Melanie,
the best friend I ever had and will love always. You have always been there for me, and without you, who knows where
I would be today (but in a barrel).

I will never forget that you are always right, 99.8% of the time, in giving me advice. You'll always be close to my heart!

I love you,
Windy).

Our Team Just Got Better

The Sports Medicine Center is proud to introduce the newest member of our team: Joseph E. Slaphey, Jr., MD.

■ Our team of orthopaedic surgeons has always offered specialized treatment in total joint replacement, spinal disorders, arthroscopic surgery, and general orthopaedics. Now, with the addition of Dr. Slaphey, we can offer quality orthopaedic care at a bigger convenience to you. ■ So, we're not only bigger...we're better.

The Word On Money.

Today, people expect more from a bank. More than ever, they look for expert advice on how to make their money work harder—and smarter. At First Liberty Bank, we know that giving customers the right products and services keeps them coming back. After all, Georgians have been banking on Liberty since 1926. That's the kind of experience you can trust. You have our word on it.

Today more than ever, you're on the move. You're here. There. Everywhere. It's living in the nineties. You never stand still. Fortunately, neither does BellSouth Mobility. We're on the move, too, providing cellular services you can depend on to keep you in touch and make your life easier.

Congratulations, Mt. DeSales Graduating Class of 1994! You're an active participant in what is appropriately called the human Race. We know you're going places. And we respond intelligently. By constantly coming up with whatever technology is necessary to take you where you want to be. So, get moving and stop by BellSouth Mobility.

LOOKING BACK

And here's the pitch . . . Trish Yarbrough shows exactly how the Mount de Sales' softball team was able to capture the second place state title.

Freshmen rule! Although the seniors are once again in the lead, the freshmen class remains optimistic and continue to rally at Fun Night.

Displaying an enthusiasm only matched by the fans, Lashanna Farley and Chauryce Brooks express their joy when the girls' varsity basketball team win the state title for the first time ever.

We are one in the spirit . . . Showing that a strong and active religious life is essential here at Mount de Sales, freshman Derek Taylor takes holy communion at the Thanksgiving Mass.

Jamaican' me crazy! Elena Hall and Christi Catchings grin at Homecoming.

A standing tradition of excellence, Under the guidance of retiring Coach John Dattilo, the boys' varsity soccer team makes Mount de Sales proud once again by winning 1993 state soccer title.

There she is — Miss Cherry Blossom Queen! Taking full advantage of her new title, senior Avril Cobb uses her weight to snag herself a little Mr. Cherry Blossom at the Special Olympics.

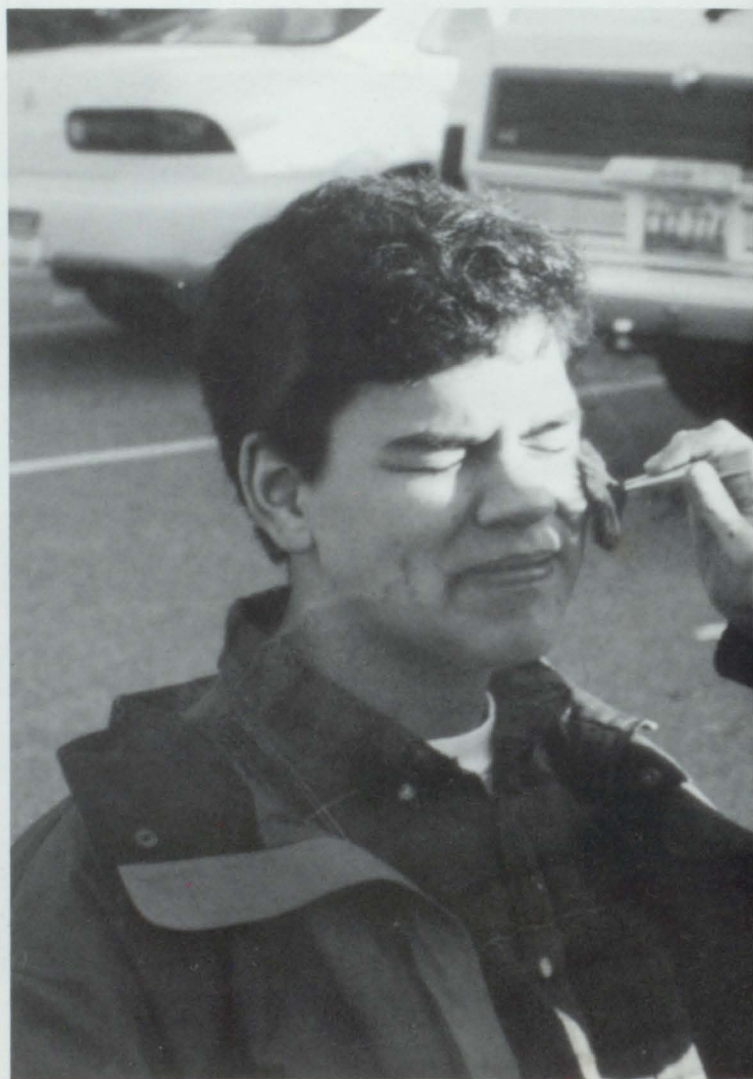

I could definitely get used to this ... Melissa Brown and Dennisha Vinson form a throne for Stephanie Wolfenbarger, who is portraying a king during practice for the spring musical, Godspell.

Are you sure that this sweater goes with this outfit? All dressed up and no place to go, Jeremiah Helms dons his party clothes during the Dress-A-Boy / Dress-A-Girl contest at Fun Night.

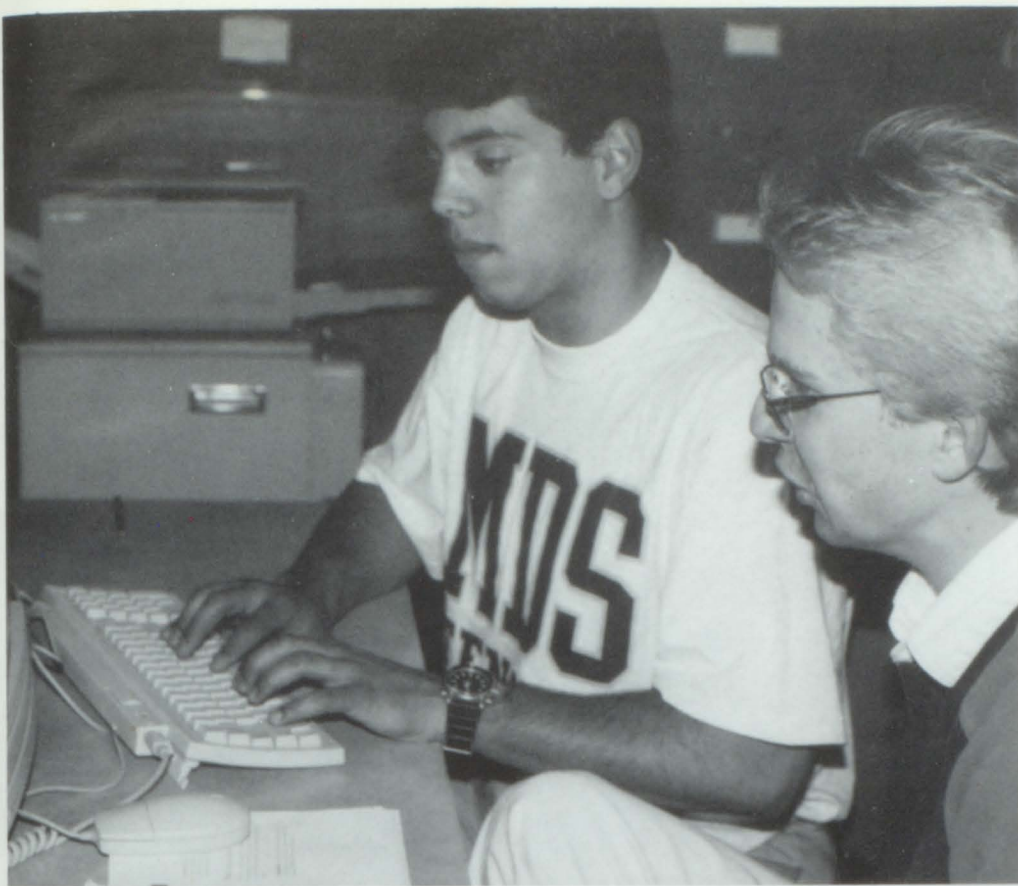

Suzanne Maddox, Walter Huellemier, Jon Howard, Bridget Corcoran, and Kevin Balkcom thank the Middle School Career Day visitor.

Just a quick touch-up job! Stephanie Sheridan prepares Will Hinshaw for his debut in the award-winning A Children's Story.

Are you sure that's how this program works, Flavio? Junior Kye Schaffer looks on as Flavio Fagundes takes the time to share his vast knowledge of the Macintosh computer with his classmate.

All a-glitter and in the height of glamour. Taking a much-needed break from dancing the night away, junior Aelia Lucas seems to be enjoying her evening in Venice during the Junior-Senior Prom.

Phew! It certainly was hot in there! Shell Kurzen manages to crack a smile even after winning an exhausting "sumo"-wrestling match.

LETTING GO . . .

"Can I do it again?" Ashley Spires climbs out of his sumo suit after a difficult day in the ring

Don't drop it! Erin Gilbert balances an egg on a spoon for a relay at the senior retreat.

"I know I left it in here somewhere! Just me look five more minutes." Gadorus Jack searches frantically through one of her notebooks for her misplaced philosophy homework.

Finally! We can sit down and rest our tired feet!!! Avril Cobb, Omar Dawson, and Elena Hall take a break from the exhausting joys of Disney World after riding Space Mountain during Grad Nite.

"I love you. You love me . . ." Melanie Koch and Rebecca Pischke share a special moment during the closing prayer service at the senior retreat at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Warner Robins.
